

Jim Lansford Vice President of Business Development Jim Lansford is Vice President of Business Development for Mobilian Corporation. Prior to working at Mobilian, Jim was a wireless system architect with Intel Corporation, where he was responsible for the research and development of wireless consumer technologies for numerous computing, home control and entertainment applications. In addition, Jim served as co-chairman of the technical committee for the HomeRF Industry Working Group, a wireless technology industry consortium of over 100 companies. Jim has authored over 20 articles in the fields of wireless communication, digital signal processing, and speech coding. He also holds six patents, either issued or in process. Jim received his B.S. in electrical engineering, with highest honors from Auburn University. He furthered his studies in electrical engineering at the Georgia Institute of Technology where he earned his M.S. Jim received his Ph.D. in electrical engineering from Oklahoma State University, and currently is an Adjunct Professor on their faculty.